"We were driven mainly by the new EU regulations imposed in Ireland for slurry spreading and the aim was not solely to meet the regulations but also we used this as a cornerstone to enable farmers to get more nutrition value from their slurry and in turn they can experience significant financial savings with using SlurryKat equipment.

"This has been readily demonstrated and proven in the past 18 months with all our customers, some of which have reduced their fertiliser's bills by up to 80% and still achieved the same outputs from their farms by using the SlurryKat system.

"Having reached these new advances, we are already working on new prototype designs to move on to new higher levels and new equipment from these designs will be seen towards the end of the year so stand by."
